MAJESTIC HOLLAND B.V. PERCUSSION INSTRUMENTS

Majestic Holland b.v. started as a part of the family firm Van der Glas in 1921 in the old centre of Heerenveen in the north part of the Netherlands. They started with selling organs, pianos and wind instruments, but the percussion instruments soon followed. In the nineteen-sixties the 'MAJESTIC' brand name was introduced for these percussion instruments. At that time the drum sets were particularly popular, and many pop groups in the Netherlands and other countries used them. Even then the production of percussion instruments for orchestras and marching bands was the most important part of the company's activities. Over the last thirty years they continued to specialize in this area, with the result that MAJESTIC percussion instruments are now being played with great enthusiasm in all four corners of the world.

The XTD Multi-Toms series offers three unique straight cut shot drum sizes to suit different configurations. The XQC68023 quints employ the 6" x 6" to match the brighter overall timbre, while the XQC60234 set utilizes the 6" x 8" to match the darker tone characteristic of the larger shells. Sextets with two 6" toms are equipped with one each 6" x 6" and 6" x 8". The XQC680234 sextet uses the 6" x 6" and 8" x 6" for maximum pitch differentiation.
